

FAMILY NURSE PRACTITIONER, M.S.

ALL IN

FOR YOU BECOMING A PRIMARY CARE PROVIDER IN HEALTHCARE

At Roberts, we're going all in. For who you're becoming and what you'll do. You already have the heart for advanced nursing—now you just need a Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP) degree.

With customized learning pathways, this degree will help you (a working R.N. with a bachelor's degree) obtain licensure and certification to provide primary care as an FNP. We'll grow your knowledge and competence in providing preventive and primary care for individuals and families.

You'll study topics such as Nursing Science, Leadership, Technology, Policy, Health Delivery Systems and independent clinical practice. Coursework is provided online. You'll spend one week on campus to prepare for performing diagnostics and procedures.

What does this mean for you? Build your confidence and follow your calling. Balance caring for yourself, your family and your patients.
